Team Building – Current Favourites

The Black and White Treasure Hunt - The best way to experience the many sites and attractions of any famous town is by the “old fashioned” game of treasure hunt.

Teams have a map of the area and must follow cryptic clues to determine their route. Along the way on foot, they must solve Cryptic Clues; collect items listed on the Scavenger Hunt, and complete the Photo Hunt - hilarious fun with some rather embarrassing photo requirements!

Rock School - Playing in a rock band is something most people only ever dream about; now with the Black and White School of Rock anyone can live the dream! Absolutely no musical experience is required in order to take part, and even the most musically challenged will be surprised by what can be achieved.

The band will provide the words and any prompts on stage for all songs, although COSTUMES may have to be considered by the participants.

Team Apprentice - Team Apprentice is our newest event & proving to be a big hit, as a corporate team building event. Inspired by the successful television series, this activity based treasure hunt will require teams to compete in a set of given tasks, remaining within budget & the allocated time.

Before the Event commences, a short health & safety brief will be given by the event manager. Then it is outside for all teams, still with no indication to the day's events, teams are given their team colours. As this is happening Sir Alex Sweetener arrives in his chauffeured limousine followed by several executive people carriers.

Cocktail Workshop - This fully interactive package encourages teams to battle it out, with detailed instruction from some of the UK's leading cocktail performers.

Be prepared for some serious fun while you learn how to mix the perfect cocktail and serve in style. Our team of expert cocktail barmen will help you mix, taste and present some of world's most exotic and delicious drinks. They will also demonstrate and teach you some “flaring”, the art of juggling bottles and pouring cocktails with flair.
